Early Intervention Program

Birth through Three

New Jersey's Early Intervention Program provides services for infants and toddlers from birth through three years old who are experiencing developmental delays or disabilities and in need of specialized services.

Early Intervention services are provided to children:

- Within the family's routine.
- Within their natural environment (the home and community).
- In an educational setting with non-disabled children.
- With active participation of the family.

If you would like more information about the kinds of services available, please contact:

Pre-School Disabled Program

Ages Three through Five

Children between the ages of three through five who reside in Cherry Hill and are suspected of having a disability may be referred directly to the Barclay Early Childhood Center Child Study Team.

Once a written referral is received, the Child Study Team will schedule an Identification Meeting. At that meeting, the team will determine if Child Study Team Evaluations are warranted and if so an Evaluation Plan is developed.

If a child is determined eligible for special education and is able to access services outside of the home, education and related services are provided at Barclay Early Childhood Center. To the maximum extent appropriate, preschoolers with disabilities receive their education with non-disabled peers.
