A Commitment to Unity – Our Community

Through challenges, we choose to forge a stronger connection with those around us and work for the greater good.

The transition that we are experiencing this winter, of February into March, has been unique in many ways as the temperatures have soared and kids have been in school in shorts and tank tops before February has even ended. While the weather has presented challenges that most have embraced, the harder challenges of social interaction have provided frequent opportunities in the past month for our community to come together to discuss and to make a difference.

I am always proud to live and have grown up in Cherry Hill, and I am honored to work for the school district on behalf of the community. This past week my pride our community soared as I saw the reaction to the callous threat that was made against the Katz JCC. Our community came together and loudly proclaimed that Cherry Hill is no place for hate. Our mayor and council members, our chief of police and our community leaders all participated in publicly responding publicly responded to support our community..

As a school district, we have been engaged in an ongoing conversation about race and hatred and the ugliness of words as High School East prepares for the opening of Ragtime on March 10th. Today, High School East welcomed Mr. Brian Stokes Mitchell, the Tony award winning actor who originated the role of Coalhouse Walker, Jr., to speak with the students and cast and members of our cultural clubs. Mr. Mitchell, pictured above, was warm and wise as he answered students' questions and challenged them to continue having difficult conversations at home with their families, with their friends now and when they go off to college. "When we are open to each other," Mr. Mitchell said, "wonderful things happen." Members of our community have continued to come together to support our students – to listen, to interact, to hear.

We received notification last night that the funding our school district receives from the state for the 2017-2018 academic year will remain flat. I am glad that we are not getting less money from the state, but as an educational community we continue to receive only about 40% of what we should receive from the state – 60% of what we should receive is being distributed someplace else. This is not a new issue. Members of our community have been taking action. The “Fair Funding for Cherry Hill Schools” committee has been active and alive indefatigable in their pursuit of our legislators and in their pursuit of Cherry Hill’s fair share of state funding. The members of this committee, these passionate neighbors of ours, need the support of the entire community in supporting advocating for our children, our district. Take some time to visit their website and see how you can help in this effort.

Opportunities for our community to come together, to help and to support exist throughout our school district. National Honor Society and Cum Laude students provide tutoring for peers, the Latinos at West is active in mentoring and our Athletes Against Bullying groups go out and speak to peers and to younger students. In every one of our schools, students and teachers create opportunities to make a difference, opportunities to speak about what is right, what is positive, what is needed in our community.

Each of us can make a difference in our community. Each of us has an opportunity, every day, to choose to make a positive difference. Support our schools, support our community, support the Cherry Hill Food Pantry – let your voice be heard. Model for our children how to make a positive difference, be a part of the greater good that will benefit Cherry Hill.
