Deliberations and Decisions

When it comes to moving forward, sometimes the best course of action is to let go.

In my letter last week (the May 5, 2017 issue of CHPS Weekly) I discussed the importance of collaboration – how it is the defining factor in our success and in improving our future. At the same time, I was involved in a number of discussions regarding the possible reconfiguration of our schools – specifically, the idea to possibly change Rosa International Middle School into a sixth grade center. This possibility galvanized many in our community to voice strong opinions. Although the concept of a sixth grader center was merely one idea among several to consider in the coming months, it seemed to take on a life of its own. By Monday, May 8, it became clear that the broader discussion about the future of our district had been derailed by the unintended controversy surrounding the potential sixth grade center.

After much more discussion and deliberation, Board of Education President Dr. Barry Dickinson and I decided to take the sixth grade center idea out of the discussion, permanently. Dr. Dickinson read a statement at the May 9 Board of Education Work Session explaining the decision. I would like to reiterate that we believe in the academic opportunities that could be provided in a configuration model that includes all of our sixth graders being together. However, the divisive reaction in our community created the opposite effect of one of the main outcomes we continue to strive for: a unified school district.

Clearly, there is a great deal of work to be done to solidify among the community as a whole what we – the Board, the administration, the teachers, the staff and the students – will attest to: all of our schools provide excellent opportunities and produce

Character

Congratulations to A. Russell Knight Elementary, Richard Stockton Elementary, and Rosa International Middle School for earning the designation of 2017 National School of Character by character.org!

These schools are among 83 schools from 21 states named 2017 National Schools of Character. Through an in-depth and rigorous evaluation process, Knight, Stockton and Rosa were found to be exemplary models of character development. This is both Stockton Elementary School's and Rosa Middle School's second designation as a National School of Character. Stockton earned their first national designation in 2012 and Rosa earned theirs in 2008. John A. Carusi Middle School also holds two National School of Character designations, one in 2011 and one in 2016.

A complete list of all CHPS National Schools of Character throughout the years may be found on the "About CHPS" page of the district web site. Character.org will honor the 2017 designated schools and districts at its 24th National Forum on Character Education to be held the weekend of October 20-21, 2017, in Arlington, VA.

Assessment Office also offers an FAQ document to answer common questions about the PARCC assessment process. All parents are encouraged to read this FAQ.
