Hello everyone, this is Joe Meloche, superintendent of the Cherry Hill Public School District. Today is Friday, May the 8th and I'm here with some quick announcements.

First, today is the last official day of teacher appreciation week. I hope you have taken the opportunity to reach out to your children's teachers, the educators in your children's lives who make such a positive difference. Please say thank you, please send them an email, it makes such a world of difference when they get to hear the gratitude and appreciation for what they do, and if you don't have any children, reach out to a former teacher, and thank them for the difference they made in your lives.

Secondly, I have a letter that is coming out to the community this afternoon that is talking about the end of the year and what's going on in light of the governor's announcement from May 4th about how schools will remain closed for the rest of the school year. There is important information about high school graduation ceremonies, about middle school activities, and elementary activities. Please read it. This has been a minute.
